Legendary Dancer, Marge Champion Visits Towers at Laguna Woods Village

Laguna Woods Village - From time to time we are honored at the Towers at Laguna Woods Village by very special visitors.

Sometimes it's someone considering future options.

Sometimes it's someone who has heard about the Towers.

Sometimes it's a family member on behalf of a loved one.

Sometimes it's a visit from an old friend.

The reasons may vary but all are welcome. Recently we had one of our most special visitors, "Snow White". She came in the form of Ms. Marge Champion of the famed dance team of Marge and Gower Champion, the stars of so many movie musicals of the 1950s.

And what's the reference to "Snow White"? Well, Marge was the live action model used by Walt Disney to make his film, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs", still a classic for all generations.

She was in town to publicize her new film, "Keep Dancing" which is being presented by Village resident Larry Strauss as part of a major fundraiser for the American Parkinson Disease Association. The Association chose our room here at the Towers for their quiet business dinner prior to a full day of TV and newspaper interviews.

The show is being presented at Clubhouse 3 Main Stage on June 26 at 7:00 p.m. Ms. Champion's film is supported by live onstage dance performances to the music of George Gershwin by both the Lineage Dance Company and the Dreamscape Dance Theater.

A "Once in a Lifetime" evening is sure to bring wonderful memories and make new ones.
